A Bar & Late Lounge developed to accompany the Chinawhite nightclub opening above it and capitalise on an Asian theme. The name is Japanese for the word ‘white’ and the ‘H’ icon is a rework of the Japanese character that means the same thing.

Total website redesign for technology firm Cased Dimensions with bespoke imagery taken to better communicate the consultancy aspect of the firm's expertise.

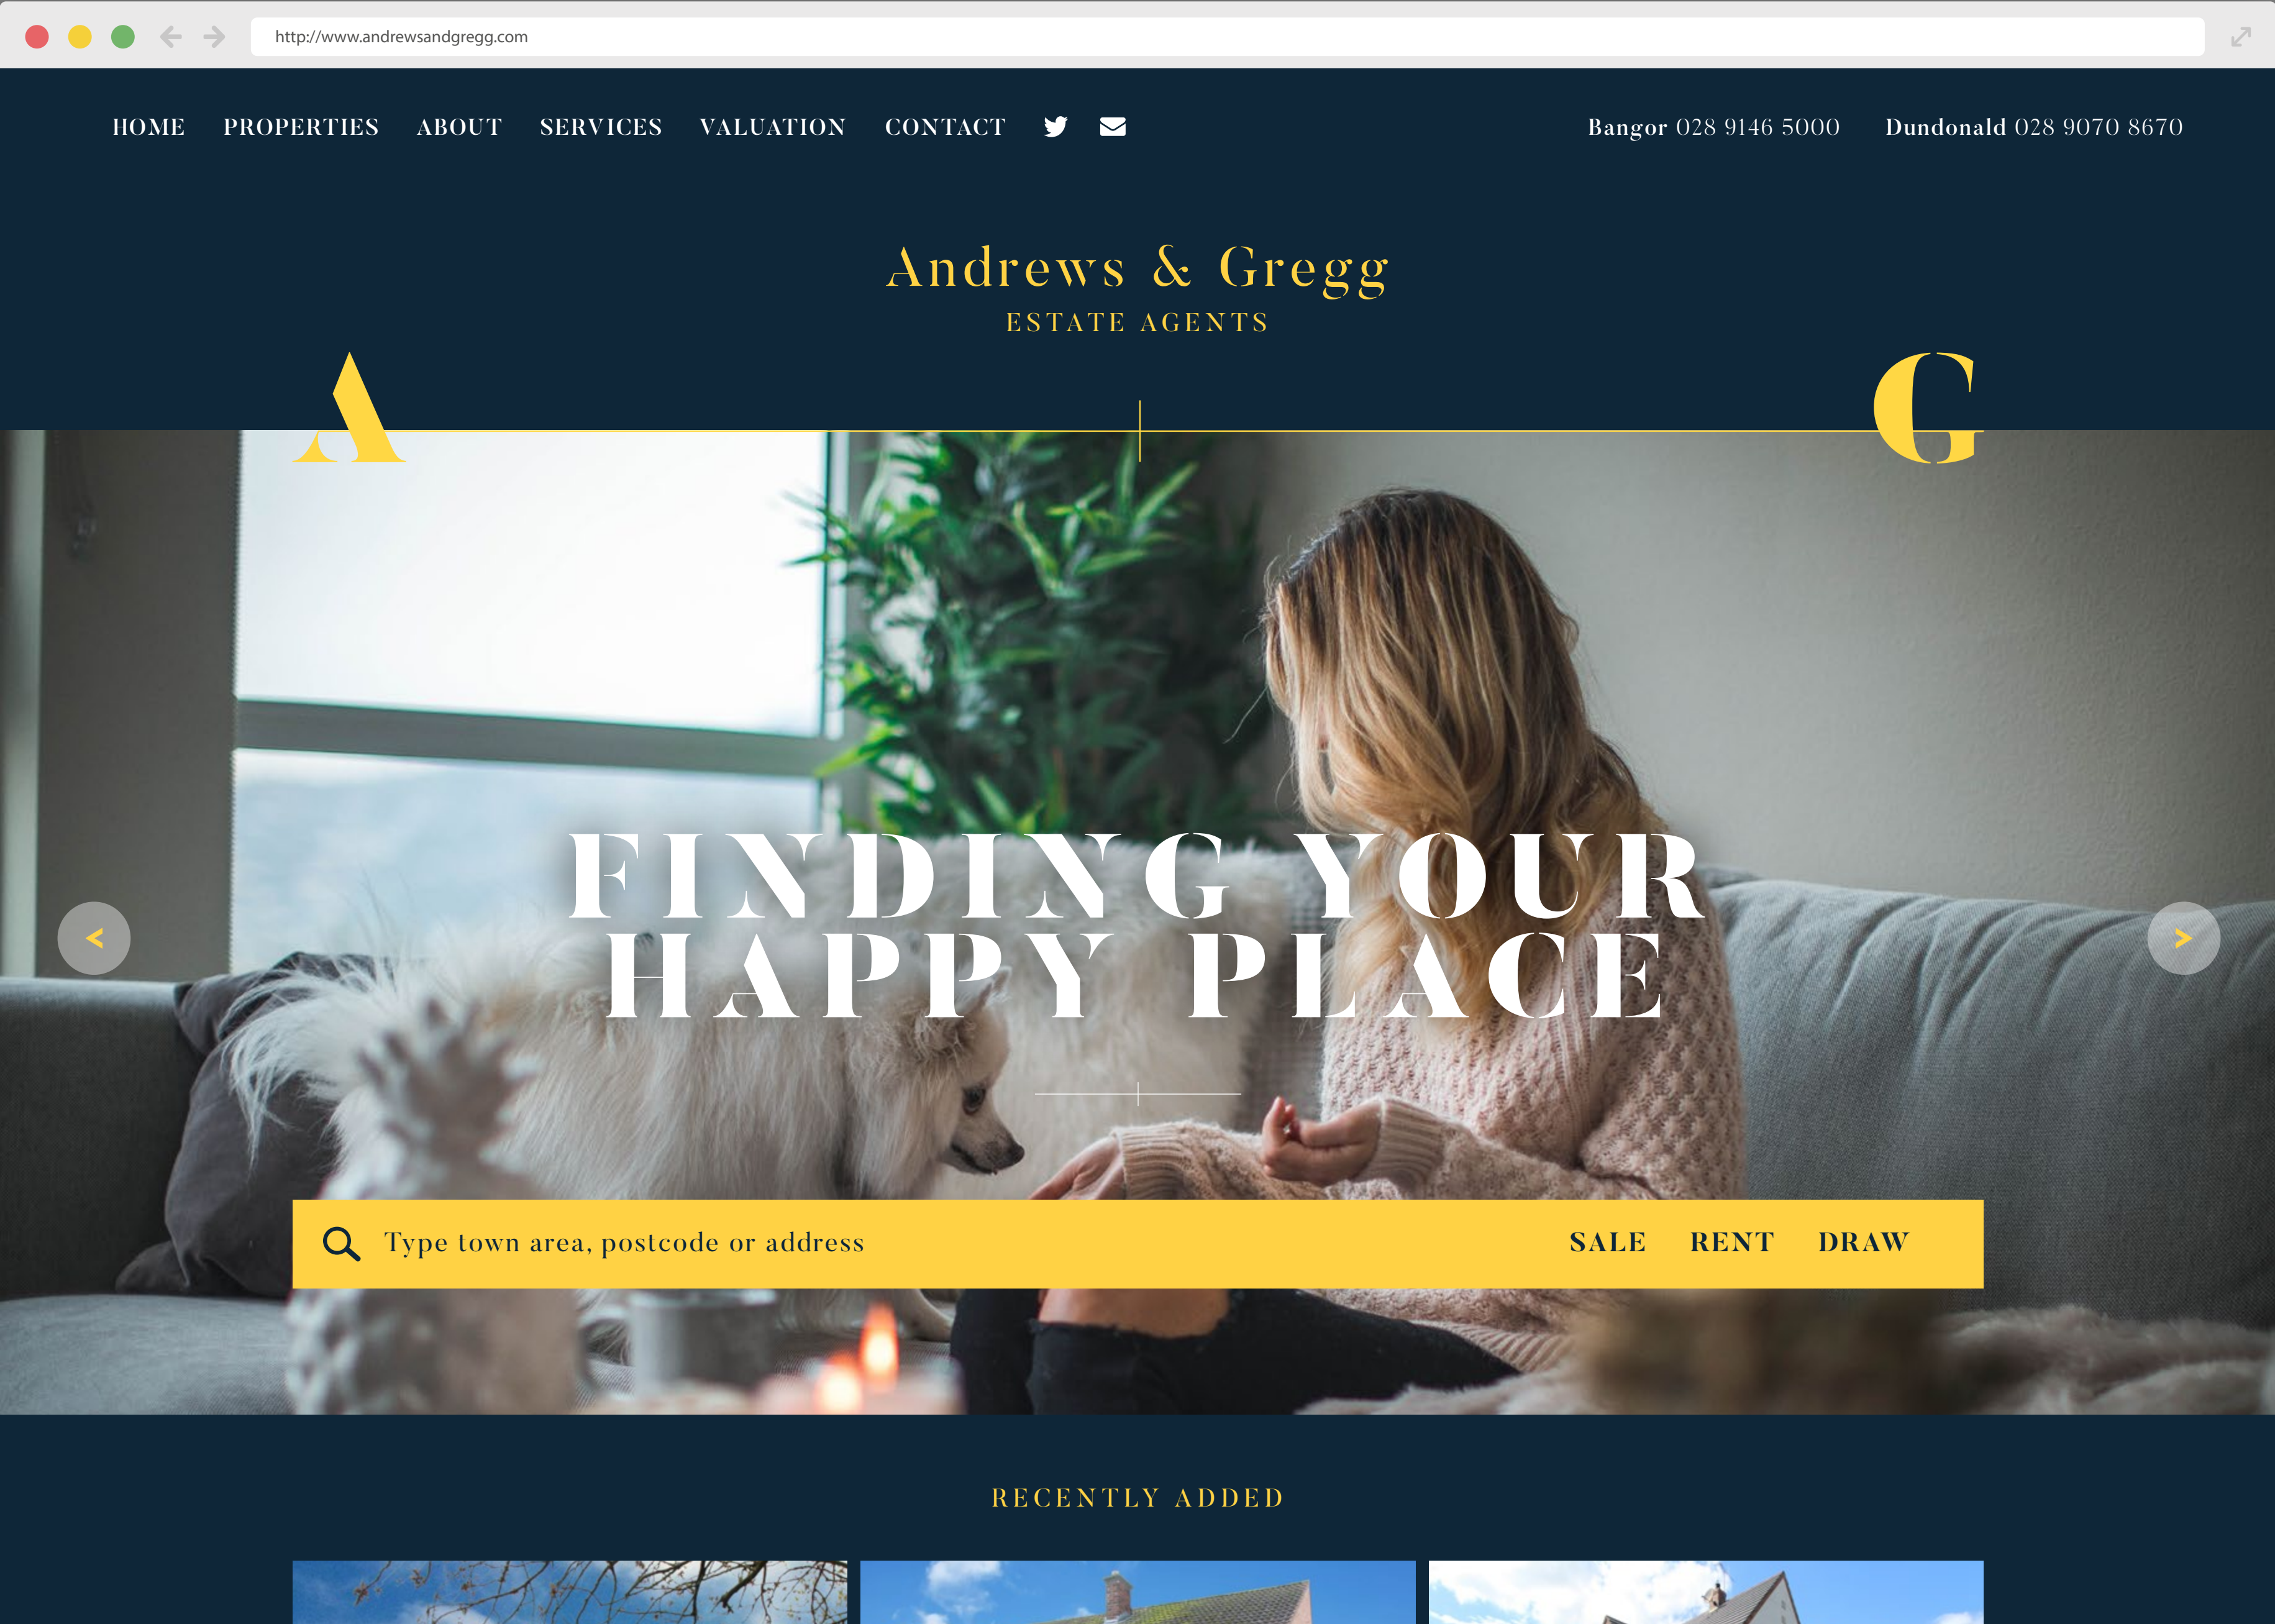

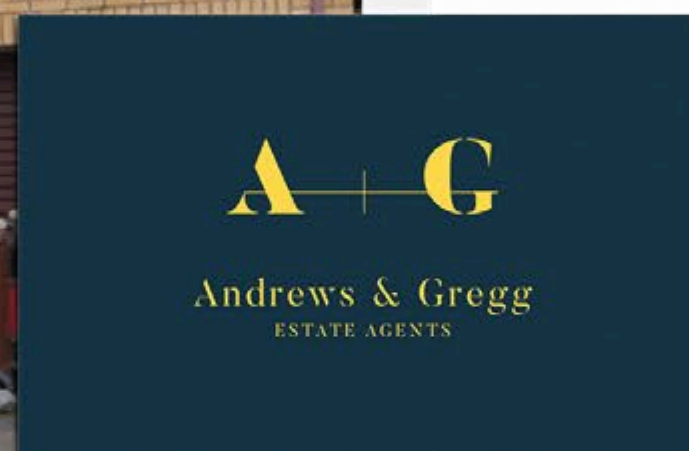

UI design for the firm's new bespoke software package, Weneg, being developed for an American audience. The name refers to the Egyptian god of the sky with a design incorporating birds eye views of the earth from Nasa's royalty free image library.

See You have been working with Positive Futures since rebranding them in 2014, developing a wide range of marketing materials in that time along with signage for all their offices, annual reports and most recently a fashion show in support of Max Mara. Due to the organisations impressive growth over the past few years, a new sister brand for the Republic of Ireland has been developed as they move in to a whole new area.

Positive Futures Annual Report 2015-16

New challenges beckon

These are exciting and challenging times for Positive Futures. At the end of the year covered by this annual review, we had registered as a company limited by guarantee and are currently progressing our registration as a charity in the Republic of Ireland.

Many people are already aware of the need for person-centred support services in Ireland; significantly, Positive Futures was approached in 2015 by people involved in Irish disability services. The time is right for us to move towards providing our support model on an all-Ireland basis.

This is a major step and we are fortunate to have a depth of experience in our Senior Leadership Team. Recognising Paul Roberts' expertise in developing new services, he will lead on the development of Positive Futures Ireland while continuing to be involved in expanding our work in Northern Ireland.

As the year ended, we were also preparing a major campaign to have the rights of lifelong carers recognised in law.

The development of a Carers' Charter, setting out a range of rights and necessities, will be the first step in creating a roadmap for the future. Contained within it will be a request for a Carers' Bill to bring the law in Northern Ireland into line with the rest of the UK. We are the only region not to have the rights of carers enshrined in law.

Having a strong voice at Stormont and leading the way in the development of services in Ireland will ensure that the voice of the people we support will be heard loud and clear on both sides of the border.

You can download a copy of our Lifelong Carer's Charter in the News & Media section of our website

Tasty8.

With a menu consisting of 8 frequently alternating recipes and a location in Dublin 8, it was a given that the brand would incorporate the number 8 in some way. In keeping with the constantly updating nature of the food itself, Tasty8's bags, cups and collateral alternate in colour with 8 carefully considered colourways and a simple bold 8 graphic to display them with.

MEZZE MAGIC

A new brand by the team behind Love Olive to bring a mix of European products to America. Due to the vast array of products and the unfamiliarity of the market with the product, a tongue in cheek design was created to make it appealing to a new customer while describing the food and its uses in a bit more detail.

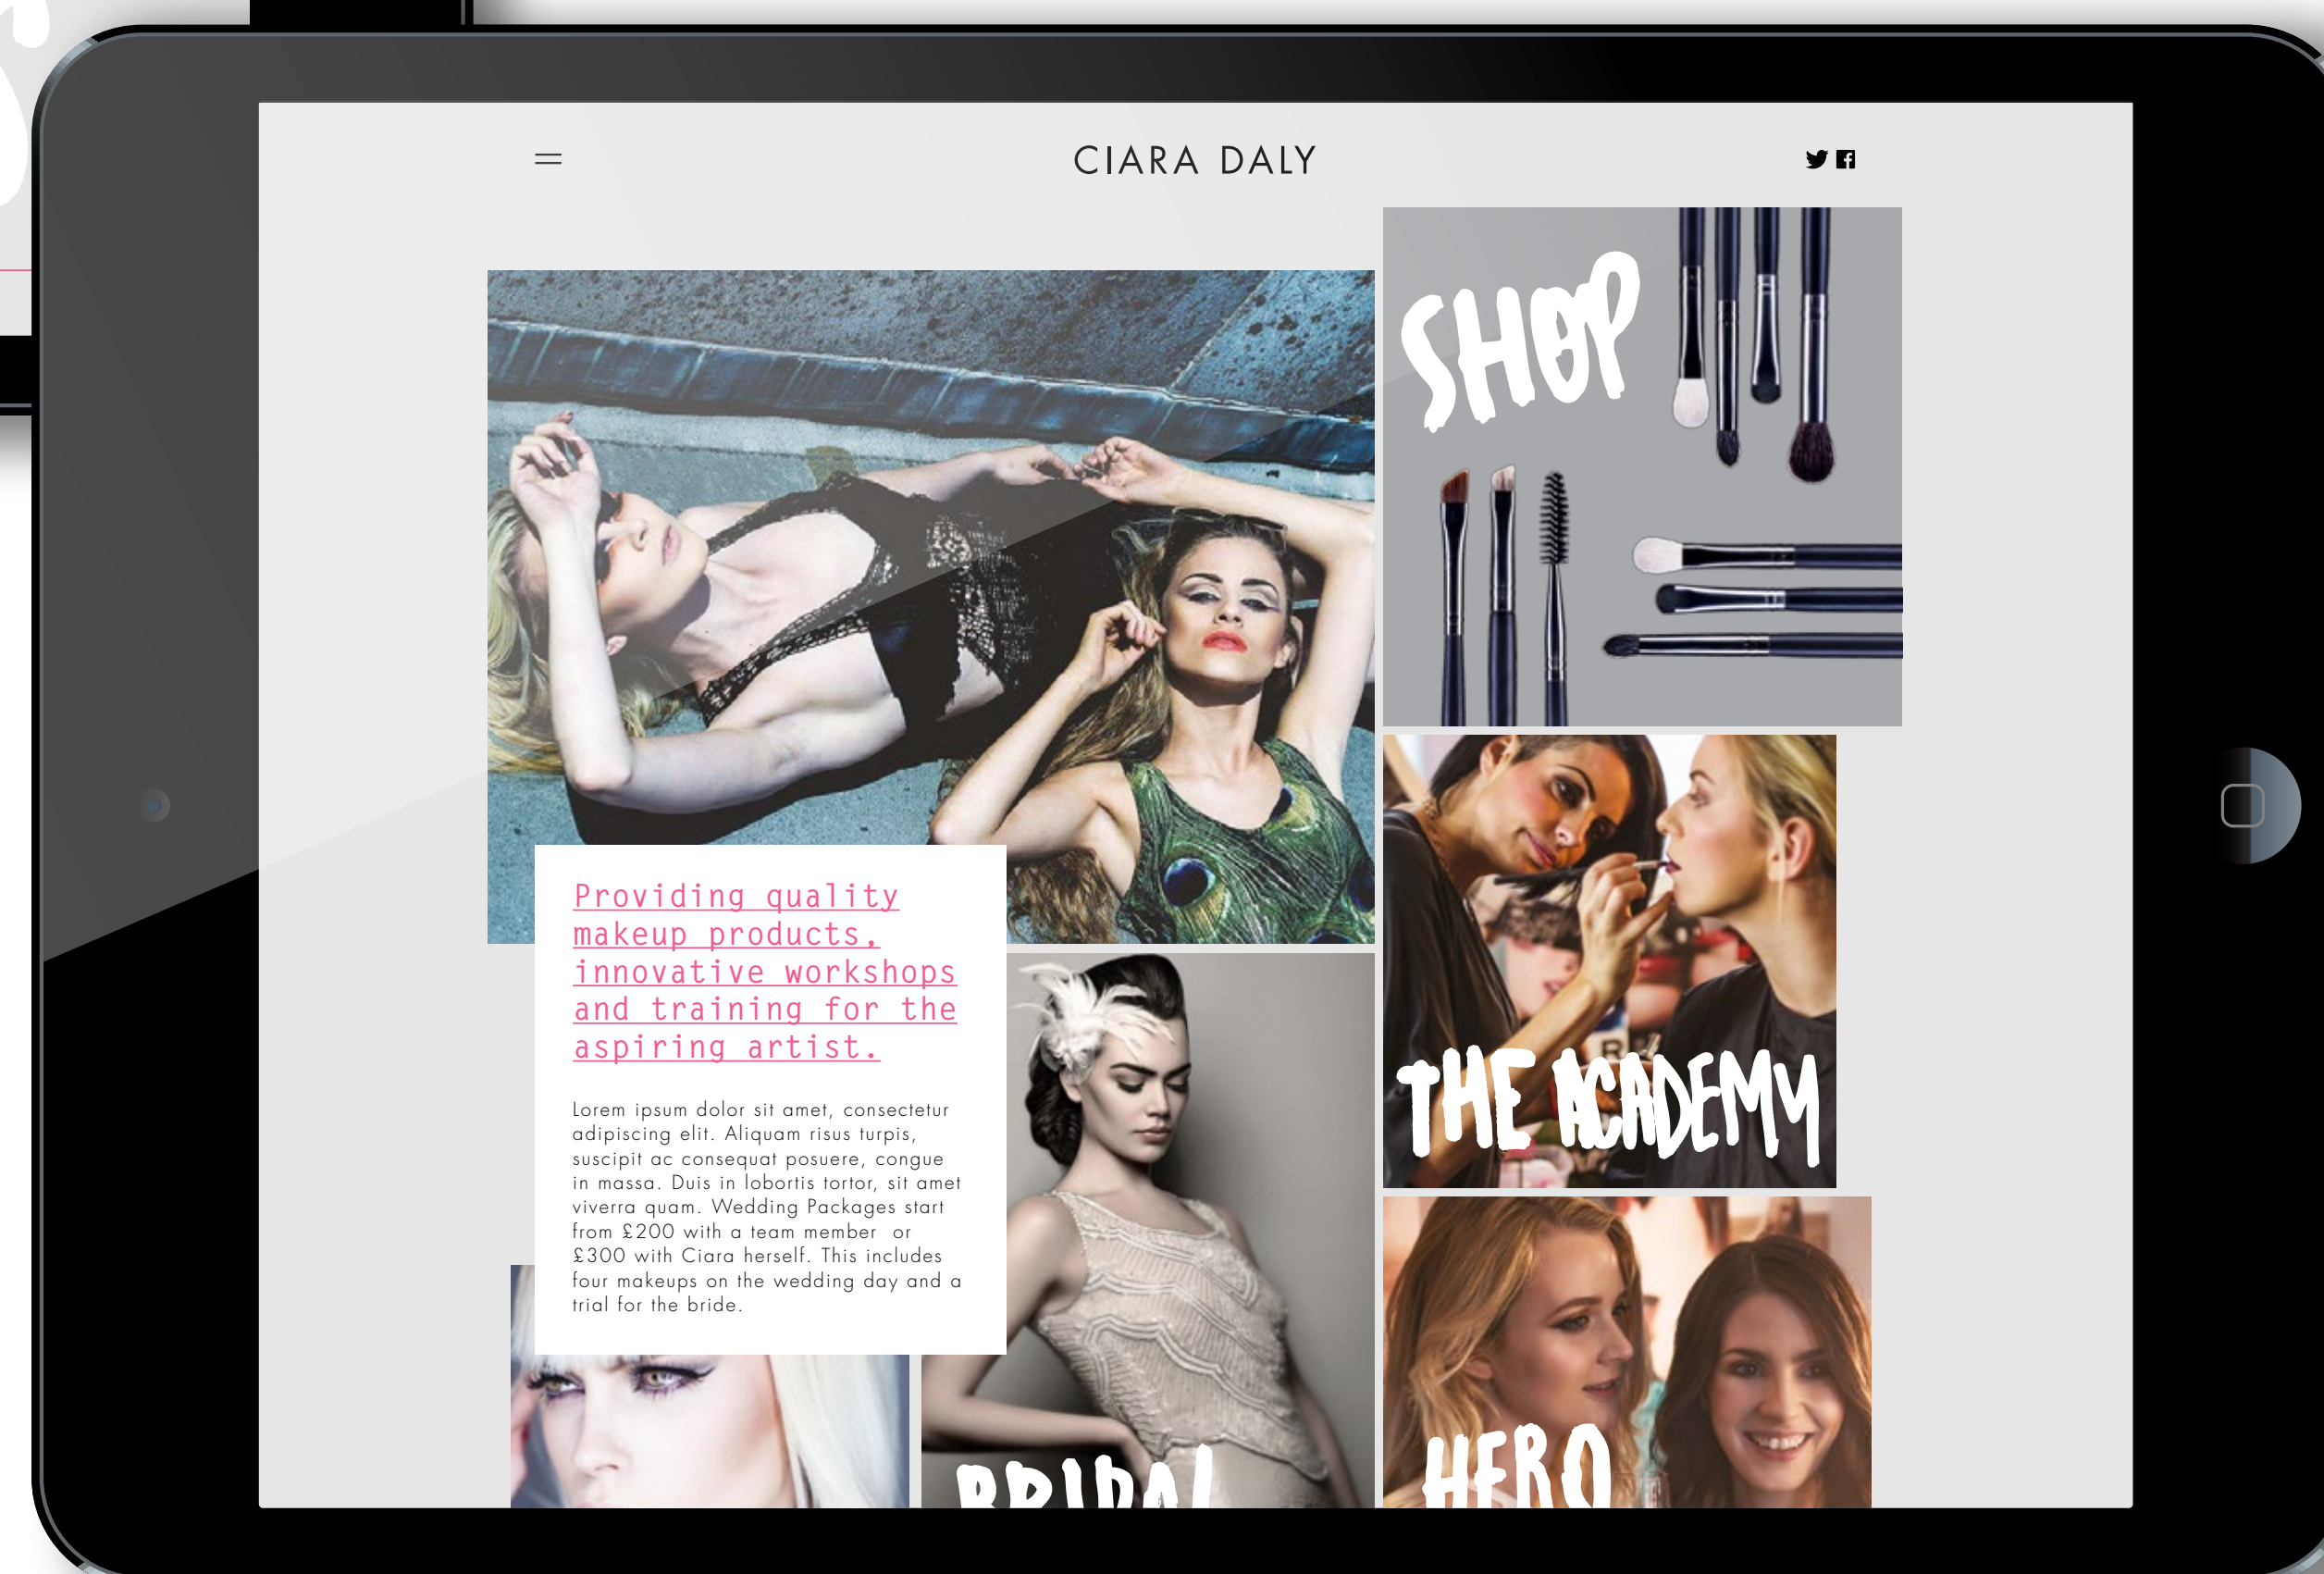

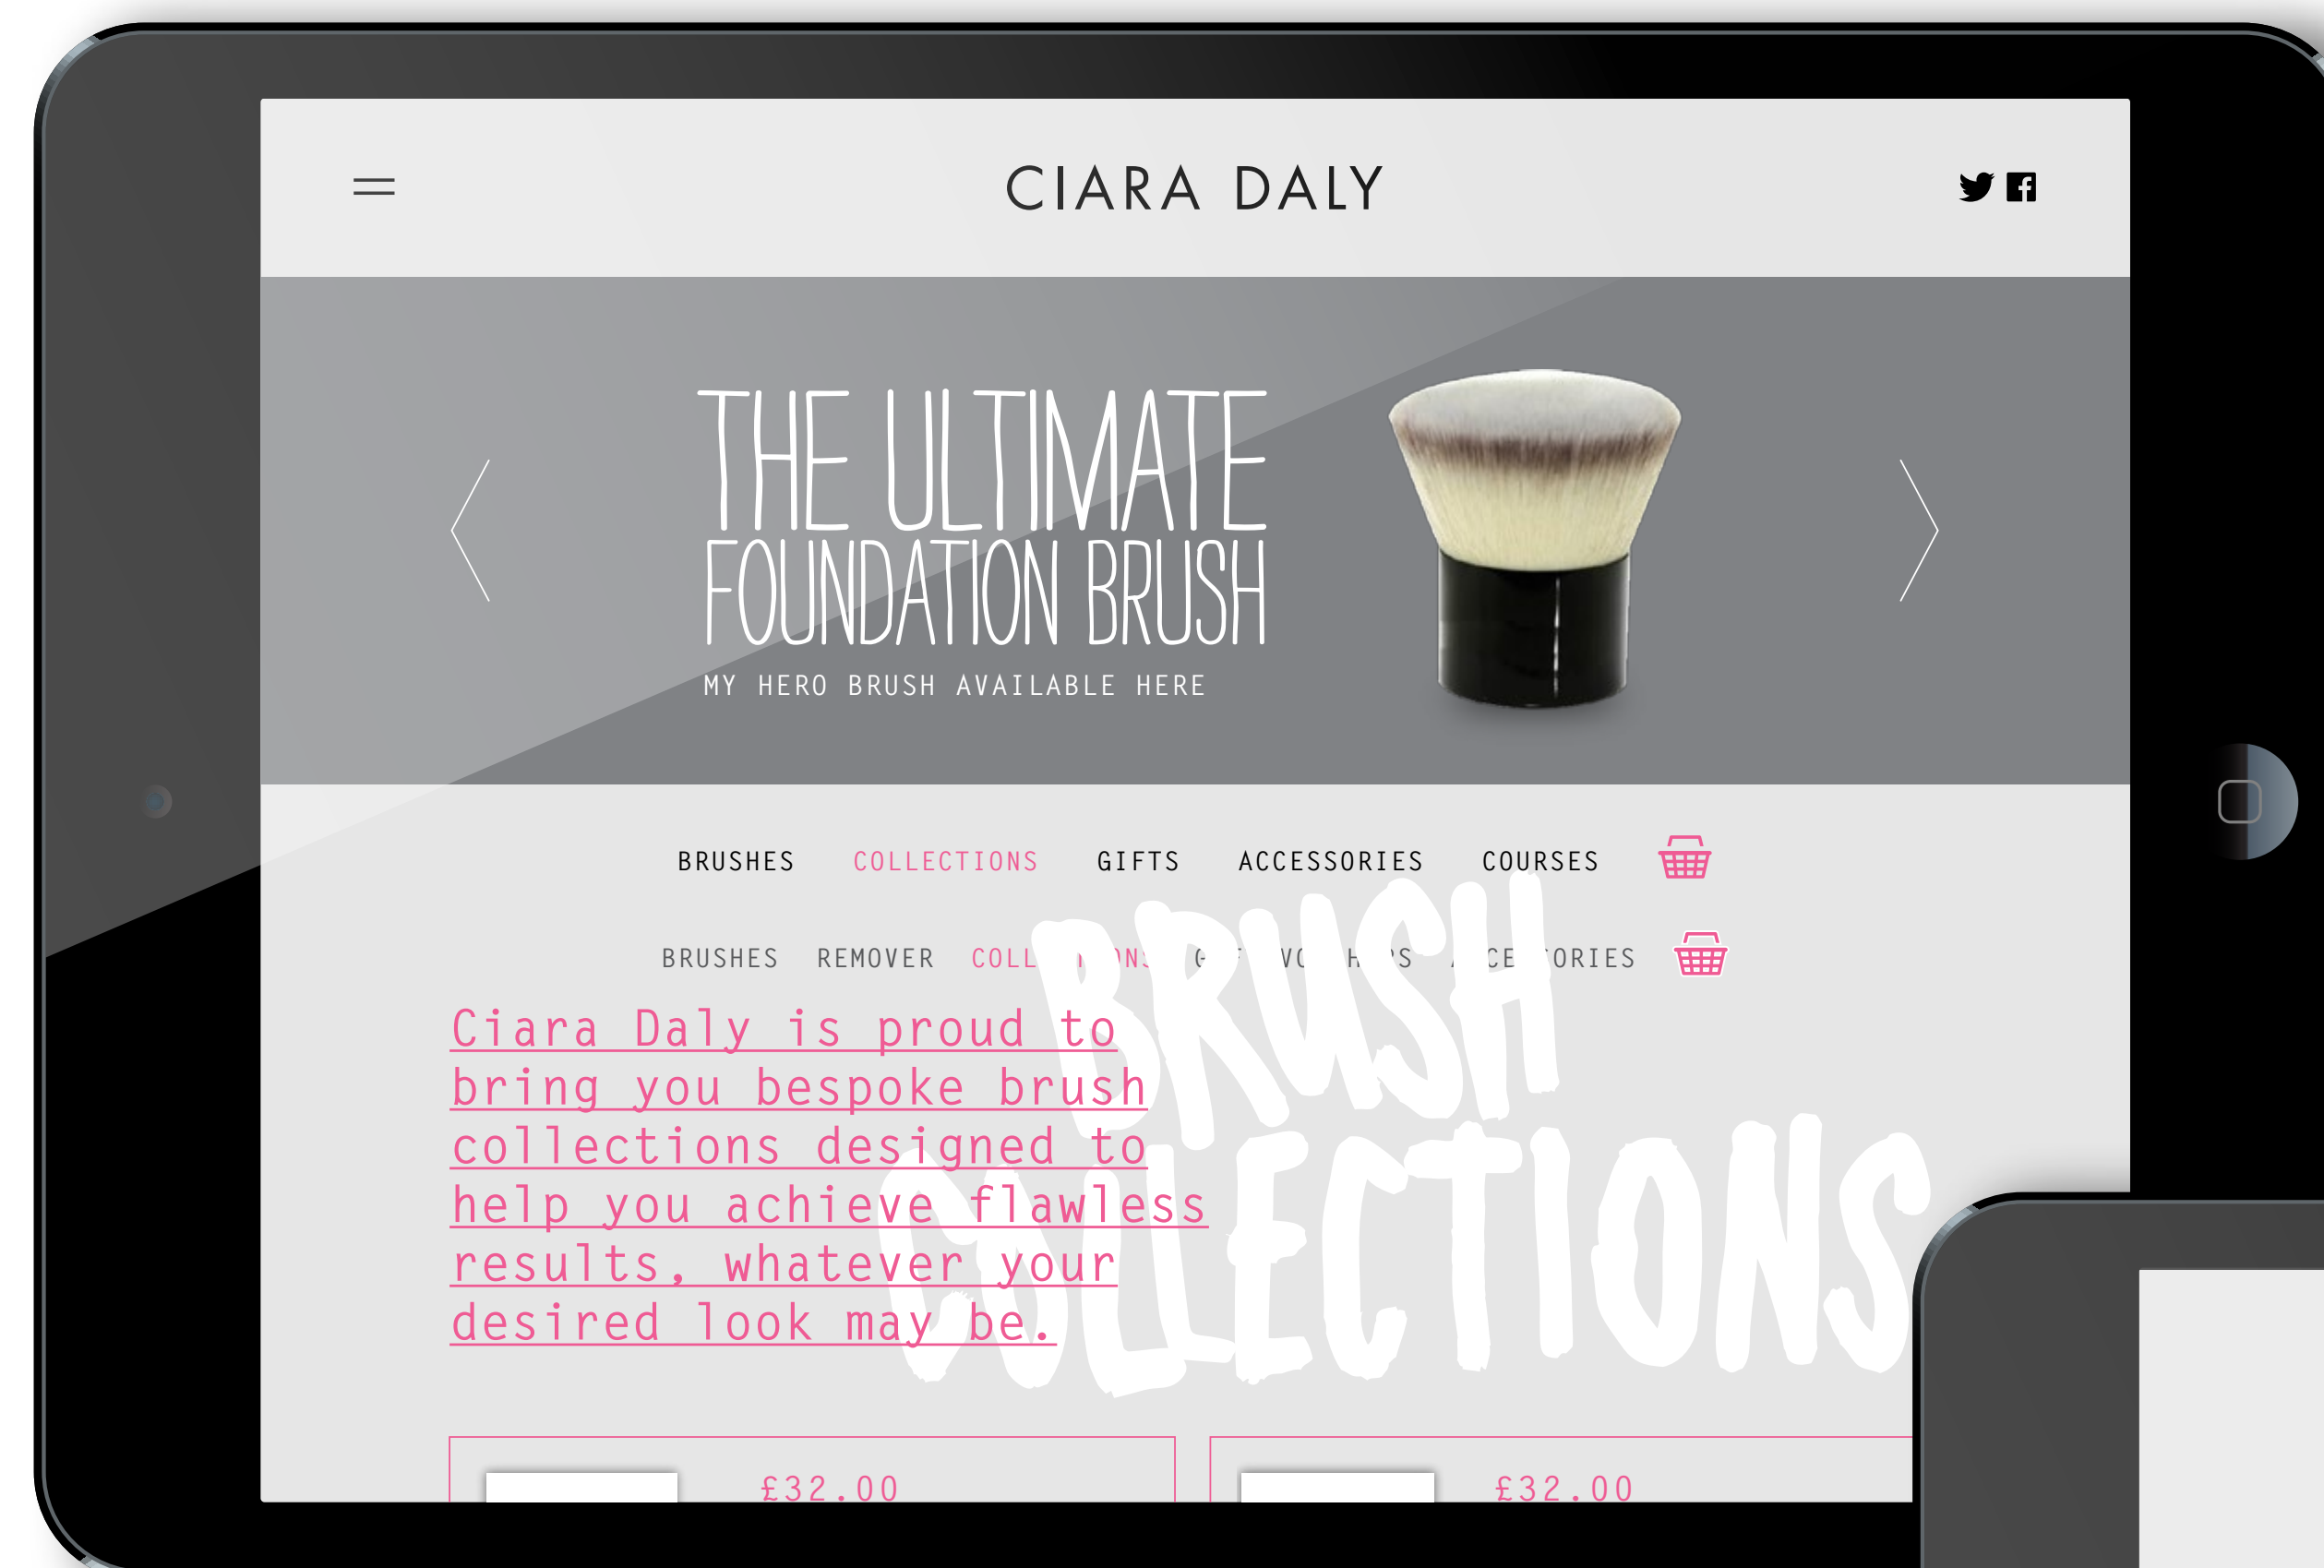

CIARA DALY

Brand development for Ciara Daly Makeup involved tidying up of the logo and bringing a consistency to all aspects of her marketing materials with a view to improving future packaging and a total website redesign.

As a retailer you will be listed as one of our stockists on our company website. This is a fantastic opportunity for salons to be associated with this ground breaking brand which has continued to grow dramatically over the last year and is set to do so going forward. Ciara currently retails to over 120 bespoke retailers. Now is the time to be part of this dynamic makeup revolution.
